

Welcome to virtual GGI

As a response to the pandemic
we have launched Cortona Young
fully devoted to young researchers in theoretical physics

The related
“New Frontiers in Theoretical Physics” 2020 edition has been postponed to May 2021 in Cortona

Great success of the Cortona-Young edition:

143 applications

55 asked to give a web-seminar (only 12 selected 😞)

24 video-posters 😊

Look at http://www.ggi.infn.it/cortona_young for the list of the web-seminars (with titles, abstracts, slides) and the list of the video-posters (with titles and videos)

The program is organized in 3 plenary Zoom afternoon sessions each with 4 selected web-seminars of 20'+5' questions

Each session is split in 2 by an extra 30' virtual-coffee break.
During this break, and also at the end of the plenary session, all the participants can discuss with the video-posters' authors.

We have 4 breakout rooms dedicated to that

Cortona Young Selection Committee:

E. Ercolessi (Università di Bologna), A. Lerda (Università del Piemonte Orientale), G. Martinelli (Università di Roma - La Sapienza), G. Mussardo (SISSA),
S. Pascoli (Durham University), M. Petrini (Sorbonne Université), F. Piccinini (INFN Pavia) (chair)

At the end of Friday session, the Cortona Young Selection Committee will assign the Best web-seminar Award whose speaker will be awarded a plenary talk in Cortona 2021

Moreover, the award for the Best video-poster will be attributed by the organizers by taking into account the votes expressed by the participants

The GGI is very proud to host a Conference fully dedicated to young researchers and will continue to promote activities with the aim of giving visibility to their exciting advances in all the theoretical physics areas

We have proposed a program of BOOST Fellowships (from PhD to Post-Doc) waiting for the INFN Executive Board approval.
